Re: Genealogy of William E. Bunting (Bunting)
HARRISON of Wayne Cty.,
Ohio

Gentlemen:

I should appreciate any help you can give me in tracing my ancestry. My great-grandfather was JOHN HARRISON, who was born to the above-named couple near Uniontown, Fayette County, Pennsylvania, in 1802, migrated to Oregon in 1846, and died in Washington County, Oregon, June 5, 1873. At the time of John Harrison's migration to Oregon he gave the address of his parents as Wayne County, Ohio.

Can you tell me where William was born and who his ancestors were, giving places and dates of births and deaths? I am hoping that I may be able to trace this family to the Harrisons on the James River in Virginia.

I am enclosing a check for $1.00 to cover cost of copies of data.
Thank you very much for your assistance.

Very truly yours,

Violet West Kaser
(Mrs. Arthur J. Kaser)

COPY

2617 San Jacinto St.
Houston, Texas.
Aug. 5th. 1932.

Mrs. Mary West Peterson,
Hillsboro, Oregon.

My dear Mrs. West:

According to the records I have, you and I are step second cousins to me that fact is a very and thrilling thing, and this is the reason why: My mother was Mary Nevada Harrison (and married my father, William East) her father was James Miller Harrison, whose father was John Harrison who married, first, Jane Miller, and had James Miller, Archibald, and Maria, who married Tom Brickell,

John Harrison married second, Mary Smith, and had John, Alexia, and Alwira who married Josiah East. This is all from records I have,

My grandfather married Mary Jane McCarty and had five children of which my Mother was the youngest, she died soon after my Mother was born, and my grandfather brought her to Ohio to the home of a (my mother's) cousin, Benjamin Harrison and his wife Phoebe.

Just recently I have gotten contact with the Oregon branch. I knew that John Harrison left Birmingham, Iowa in 1846, with a party who called themselves "The Iowa Cowboys" and have letters from his sons John and Archibald to my father from North Washburn and Hillsboro, but I did not know the names of any of their children and so finally I got a letter from a lady whose name I saw in the Daughters of the Revolution magazine and wrote inquiring about the family. She sent me the name of Marcus Harrison, Hillsboro, Oregon. And I received an answer to my inquiry yesterday. Mrs. Helen Harrison who married Leslie Harrison the son of Marcus. And she gave me your name. So, I am writing to you in hopes you have records of the family and can help me.

My husband's Mother is a great worker in Historical Societies and has organized a Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution and named it after her own ancestor, also a Chapter of Children of the American Rev. and named it after the son. So, as I know that the Harrisons were prominent in affairs too, I am very anxious to establish my line.

I have tried to pick up the ends in Ohio, but my Mother has been away from there 45 years or so, and you can see it was quite an undertaking, also there are a great number of Harrisons there.

I have a record written by his grandfather, James Miller Harrison, saying his father was born in Fayette County Tenn. March 14, 1807. But I have not been able to find out the names of his parents, and I do so hope you will be able to tell me.

I have gathered a good deal of interesting information about my grandfather and his father, that I will be glad to give you if you want it.

Mrs. Helen Harrison said she understood you had spent a good deal of time gathering information together, and I can well appreciate that fact, and will be glad to give you anything and everything I know.

I have a most interesting manuscript describing the trip from Birmingham, Iowa in 1846. Written by a man who was later his grandfather. He was quite a writer as he also wrote two or three books about the country along the coast and a description of Oregon for the Government.

I have been in communication with the Librarian of the National Genealogical Society in Washington, D.C. and she advises me that there is an effort being made to gather all the history possible about early settlers in Oregon, and advised me to get busy and put forth my very best effort to locate my Harriisons. I had already given her the names of John Harriison, and she was very much interested in what I wrote, and said it would be a shame not to have him in the history just for lack of his family knowing about it. And right after I got her letter I began to learn things about you all, and I can hardly write coherently. But after you get over the shock of this letter, I will go into details for you.

I do hope you will accept right away, I am enclosing a stamped envelope for your convenience.

I have a very beautiful and unusual badge in my possession, that we are quite sure belongs to the Harriison, for it was my Mother's, after seeing a photostat of it the Acting Chief, Division of Manuscripts of the Library of Congress, Washington, D.C. wrote this about it: we can only conjecture that this badge is of the Campaign of 1840; for there are thirty-three stars. The thirty third state, Oregon, was admitted to the union in that year. The badge is blue and on it, written in silver are the words "Ivan Stone of '79".

Have you ever heard of such an organization?

I shall stop now and give you a chance to digest this. But I sincerely hope you will write soon.

So, until then,

I am, Sincerely yours,

Carrie Lang Quinn

Dear Mr. Phillips:

Thank you very much for your letter of February 5 in which you give information concerning the Harrison family genealogy. I have delayed in answering until I could get together the information I already have so that you might be guided by it.

While the John Harrison referred to in your letter is not, as you suspected, the one I referred to, I feel that he perhaps is a first cousin of my great grandfather, since you say that "your" John was a nephew of William Harrison. Both Johns were born near Uniontown, Pa., and it appears that their respective fathers may have been brothers.

Here is what I have gleaned so far on my great grandfather John Harrison:

Born: Lafayette County, Pennsylvania, 3/14/1802.

Settled: in Ohio, 1827; Iowa 1837-39

Married: (1) Jane Miller, Holmes County 11/21/1827, who was born in Beaver County, Pa. 6/26/1806, the daughter of James and Mary Miller; she died 11/8/1840;

(2) Mary Brown Smith, in Van Buren County, Iowa 9/21/1841; she was born in Warren County, Ky. 12/29/1818; died 5/4/87 in Washington County, Oregon

Came to Oregon: 1846 across plains, in the Iowa Company. S. Stark was captain of train. Wm. Trimble was killed by Indians. W. C. Graves and Mr. Clymer were in train. They started from Birmingham, Iowa Location: Rushing Plains, Washill County at first; then settled Union Land Claim #2138, Washington County Sept. 20, 1849. At that time he said that his father William Harrison lived in Wayne County, Ohio.

Occupation: Miller; lumberman

Died: Washington County, Oregon June 5, 1873

Children of 1st wife: James Miller Harrison, born 8/9/1829 Holmes County, O.
Archibald McNair Harrison b. Holmes County, O. 5/24/1832
Maria Harrison b. Holmes County, O. 9/27/1834. Maria married Tom Brickell

Children of 2nd wife: John Harrison, Jr. b. Jefferson County, Iowa 9/17/1842
d. Washington Cty., Oreg. 10/21/17.

Children of 2nd wife - continued:

Louisa Bedler Harrison, (my grandmother, who married Josiah West) born Jefferson County, Iowa, Feb. 7, 1844;

William Harrison born Van Buren County, Iowa 12/30/1845
Cyrus James Harrison born Franklin County Oregon 9/25/1846
Samuel Thurston Harrison born Wash. Cty, Oreg. 12/9/51
Marcus Whitman Harrison born Wash. Cty. Oreg. 12/10/55
Henry Clay Harrison born Wash. Cty., Oreg. 3/13/59

I feel that the William Harrison you mentioned in your letter is the man I am tracing, and I should, therefore, appreciate it if you could be so kind as to send me copies of any recorded information on the William Harrison who first arrived in Wayne County, Ohio, in 1813, and who was listed in the 1850 census, ^{John + wife}. Does the record indicate where he lived prior to coming to Wayne County and who his children were? Was his wife Mary Bunting Harrison? The William Harrison I am tracing is said to be a cousin of William Henry Harrison who was President of the United States.

I have a copy of a manuscript written by John Harrison's son James Miller Harrison who came across the Plains with his father in 1846. This account was evidently written many years later for Harper's Magazine while he ^{was} in Wooster, Ohio, and I feel that he probably went back to the old home place at that time. This is why I feel that the William you mention is John's father. If I could find out who William's parents and brothers were it would help me.

In James Miller Harrison's manuscript he says they left Birmingham, Iowa, April 21, 1846, for Oregon. I understand that John Harrison layed out the town of Birmingham, Iowa, so I am, of course, also writing there for whatever records they have, and also to Lafayette County, Mo., where John was born, and to Holmes County, Ohio.

I am sorry that I have been unable to locate your cousin through either the telephone directory or the Oregon Historical Society, as I should have been pleased to meet her. We even drove out to the address you gave, but did not find a house numbered 333 On S. W. 146th Ave.

I am enclosing a $0.00 check which I hope will be sufficient to cover the cost of copies of records. I do appreciate the interest you have shown in getting information for me and would be pleased to return the favor should you like information from Portland files.

Sincerely,

(Mrs. Arthur J. Kaser)

Dear Mrs. Kaser,

I have checked our death records for William and Mary Harrison. I did not find a record for either one. As a matter of information, parents names were not listed on the old death records unless it was an infant death, and then not always.

Our birth and death records begin at 1867 and continue until 1908. After that time they are kept at the Health Department. Marriages begin at 1813 and continue to the present time.

Dear Mr. Phillips:

Thank you very much for your letter of February 5 in which you give information concerning the Harrison family genealogy. I have delayed in answering until I could get together the information I already have so that you might be guided by it.

While the John Harrison referred to in your letter is not, as you suspected, the one I referred to, I feel that he perhaps is a first cousin of my great-grandfather, since you say that "John" was a son of William Harrison. Both Johns were born near Cincinnati, O., and it appears that other relatives of theirs may have been in the same area.

Here is what I have learned so far about my great-grandfather John Harrison:

Born: Fayette County, Pennsylvania, 7/11/17

Settled: in Ohio, 1827; Iowa 1837-39

Spouse: (1) Jane Miller, Holmes County, O. 11/1/17, who was born in Holmes County, O. 6/1/17, the daughter of John and Mary Miller; she died 11/8/1840

(2) Mary Anne Miller, 18th June County, Iowa 11/1/17;
she was born in Warren County, Ky. 12/29/1818; died 11/1/17 in Washington County, Oregon.

Child of above: 10 children, 11th June County, O. 11/1/17. A. Miller was captain of train. ... Travelled with Miller, W. S.
Graves and Mr. Clymer were in train. They started from Birmingham, Iowa

Spouse: (3) ... 11th June County at ...
Land Claim #2138, Washington County Sept. 20, 1871. At that time he said that his father William Harrison lived in Holmes County, Ohio.

Occupation: Miller; lumberman

I feel that the William Harrison you mentioned in your letter is the man I am tracing, and I should, therefore, appreciate it if you would be so kind as to send me copies of any recorded information on the William Harrison who first arrived in Wayne County, Ohio, in 1813, and who was listed in the 1850 Census, ^{Wayne County, Ohio} 1850. The record indicate where he lived prior to coming to Wayne County and where his children were? Was his wife Mary Manning Harrison? The William Harrison I am tracing is said to be a cousin of William Henry Harrison who was President of the United States.

I have a copy of a manuscript written by John Harrison's son James Miller Harrison who came across the Plains with his father in 1846. His account was evidently written many years later for Harper's Magazine while he, James, was in Worcester, Ohio, and I feel that he probably went back to the old home place at that time. This is why I feel that the William you mention is John's father. If I could find out who William's parents and brothers were it would help me.

Pioneer Ancestors 'Living Thing' For Dancing Teen-Ager

TEENAGER Deborah Lee Morris is young lady with strong convictions. Like she knows that someday she wants to be buried in graveyard dedicated by her distinguished progenitor, John Harrison, Washington County pioneer of 1846. Here Debbie traces legend on gravestone of her great-great-grandfather in delapidated Harrison Cemetery near North Plains, off Sunset highway. Debbie seeks assistance in restoring cemetery which has been dedicated to Washington County, Oregon Historical Society, Sons and Daughters of Oregon Pioneers are both trying to help 16-year-old Monroe High School sophomore in her pet project.

By PHIL HUNT
Journal Staff Writer

Deborah Lee Morris is an unusual girl.

When she was 13, she decided she wanted to spend eternally with her maternal ancestors. That was three years ago, and ever since then she has been searching for the means to return the pastoral burial ground of her progenitors to some semblance of the beauty the secluded woodland setting obviously once had.

For Debbie, a lively young lass of 16, this interest in her ancestral background has no overtones of a morbid death-wish. According to those who know her best she is an energetic, sensitive, loving, and sometimes ornery, normal teen-ager who loves to dance, swim, ski.

This Monroe High School sophomore is very much oriented to the living. She wants to be a dress designer, loves to sew — made her own drapes and bedspread to redecorate her room. She also likes to cook special cakes, makes fancy salads, and do things in the kitchen which are "out of the ordinary."

BUT DEBBIE has a good reason for wanting to restore the historic Harrison Cemetery near North Plains, located within sight of the Sunset Highway, a few miles west of Portland.

The Harrisons are, after all, a proud pioneer family, among the first settlers of Washington County, active in a great variety of affairs

HARRISON HOMESTEAD at North Plains, which blew down during Columbus Day storm in 1962, was for years prominent landmark fully visible from Sunset Highway. Parts of structure, built by Washington County pioneer John Harrison, date back to late 1840s. Shed for water pump, at left, is only portion of building still standing. Homestead was only short distance from Harrison Cemetery and from Harrison's grist mill, first in Washington County.

and interests throughout the Northwest, and not too distant related to William Henry and Benjamin Harrison, the 9th and 23rd Presidents of the United States. Another member of the Harrison family signed the Declaration of Independence.

Debbie's great-great-grandfather, John Harrison, brought with him from Iowa the mill stones for the first grist mill in Washington County. The stones now are on display at the Hillsboro Museum.

JOHN HARRISON built a dam and constructed a long millstream leading off Dairy Creek (sometimes known as Harrison Creek) across his donation land claim near North Plains. With this water power he operated both his flour mill and a lumber mill.

The first surveyed road in Washington County was laid out from Hillsboro to Harrison's mill. Flour from the mill was hauled over the Cornelius Pass Road and shipped to market from St. Helens.

Born in 1802 near Uniontown Pa., during President Thomas Jefferson's administration, John Harrison moved west as a young man, laid out Birmingham in Van Buren County, Iowa, in 1839.

Following the death of his first wife, Jane Miller Harrison, in 1840, he married Mary B. Smith and on April 1, 1846, with six children, they set out with three covered wagons, joining the Iowa Company for the long journey to Oregon.

JOHN'S eldest son, James Miller Harrison, a 17-year-old youth at the time of the migration, some years later wrote an exciting account of the trip, copies of which are still in the family.

This 21-page document is filled with encounters with the Indians, both friendly and hostile; tells of how James Harrison and a friend were surrounded by a band of Pawnees and the friend shot in the back with an arrow; of buffalo hunting, stampedes with the wagons; and the split of the company into two segments with the Harrisons and friends continuing on to Oregon via the Barlow trail. The other group, turning south for California from near Ft. Hall, ran into extreme conditions of starvation and became widely known as the Donner Party.

James Harrison became a surveyor and author of two works, "Harrison's Guide and Resources of the Pacific Coast," and "Settlers' Guide for the Pacific Slope."

DEBBIE'S great-great-grandfather, Archibald McNair Harrison, a younger brother of James, joined Company D of the 1st Regiment, Oregon Mounted Volunteers in October of 1853, to fight the Indian Wars and participated in a battle at Yakima, Wash. A lad of 14 when he accompanied his family to Oregon, Archibald was hit by a train and killed near Roseburg in 1917.

Members of the Harrison family have spread all over Oregon. Some returned east, others moved to Texas and Nevada. At various times members of the family were to be found in Jefferson, DANCING, skiing, swimming, cooking and sewing are among many activities in which very normal teen-ager Debbie Morris engages. But she is also keenly interested in genealogy, and in restoration of now vandalized, overgrown Harrison Cemetery near North Plains.

Gold Hill, Yamhill County, Cottage Grove, Jacksonville, Ashland, Tillamook, Klamath Falls, Eugene, Lebanon, Forest Grove, Brownsville, Priest Rapids, Grants Pass and elsewhere throughout Washington, California and the West.

The old Harrison homestead and original donation land claim passed out of the family, was later repurchased, unknowingly by one of John Harrison's descendants who subsequently undertook the restoration of the old Harrison Cemetery.

BUT THE RAVAGES of time, uncontrolled growth, and some vandalism have again taken their toll until the heavily overgrown cemetery grove now is hardly recognizable from the road.

Debbie has taken her restoration campaign to Washington County officials, since the cemetery was deeded to the county many years ago. But despite the fact that a number of prominent county forefathers are buried there — including members of the McKay and Cornelius families — county officials plead they have no funds for maintenance of the property.

Much more promising have been Debbie's contacts with the Oregon Historical Society which has a group of members interested in such projects, and the Sons and Daughters of Oregon Pioneers. Debbie will have opportunity to air her plea for help before the annual meeting of the latter group when it meets in June.

Debbie inherited her interest in family history from her mother, Barbara, Mrs. Ronald L. Harrison, of 5857 SE 23rd Ave. When her mother returned to work several years ago, Debbie picked up the traces of ancestral lore and has been pursuing her avocation of historical restoration of the Harrison Cemetery ever since.

What she really needs is about 30 or 40 husky boys or men with shovels, axes, picks, hoes, saws and the like, willing to spend a day at the satisfying work of restoring the reverent sphere that honored pioneer dead deserve. Perhaps a club, a church group or a Washington County high school or college class could make this a project. Such would certainly make Debbie, and the descendants of some other pioneers extremely happy.

The fine voice of "Primo Tenore" Luciano Pavarotti appears in another recital, his second, on a London recording. The earlier album concentrated on works by Donizetti and Verdi. This new one gives a broader scope to Pavarotti's talents through interpretation of favorite arias by Rossini, Bellini, Botti, Ponchelli, Puccini, Cilea and Piretti as well as those of Donizetti and Verdi. Support is provided by the Vienna Opera Orchestra and Chorus conducted by Nicola Rescigno and the New Philharmonia Orchestra and Chorus conducted by Leone Magiera. It's a "smooth" recording. London, OS 2612 (EG).

LISTENERS may have eaten down recently to enjoy Richard Strauss' tone poems "Don Juan" and "Death and Transfiguration," can give themselves a treat by picking up Columbia Records' recent Odyssey album "Swell Conducts Richard Strauss." In addition to the two popular tone poems the album leads off with Strauss' rondo "Till Eulenspiegel's Merry Pranks," Op. 28. The Cleveland Orchestra under baton of George Szell brings to the ear of this listener something "special" in its interpretation of "Don Juan." Columbia Odyssey, Y 30313 (EG).

London Records sort of "went ape" on Irish music in its batch of recent albums and for some of us this is a most happy happening. The Irish sounds on four new recordings are not only soulfully delightful but greatly varied.

"40 SHADES OF GREEN" is a collection of a dozen numbers representing "both the best in Irish songs and Irish singers in their own particular sphere." Title track for the album "Forty Shades of Green" is a song written by Johnny Cash to describe the impact a tour of Ireland had on him and is sung by Frankie McBride. Other artists and groups represented read like a roster of today's top Irish performers; and the selections are those which a "now" Irish lass or laddie undoubtedly would cheer for on a quest program. London International, SW 9931. (EG)

ONE OF THE ARTISTS on the album above is Bridie Gallagher, the girl from Cressingham in County Donegal who for about a dozen years now has been considered "the most popular of all girl singers in Ireland." London dramatically shows off her vocal talents in a new album "In the Heart of Donegal — Bridie Gallagher." There are 12 songs recorded, including — in addition to the album title song — such numbers as "Moonlight in Mayo," "Cutting the Corn in Chreessa," "Johnny Gray," "Star of Donegal," and "Hills of Glenswilly." They all are delightful through the lilting voice of Bridie Gallagher. London International, SW 9931. (EG)

ANOTHER NEW IRISH album — one with a real difference of its own — is called "Jimmy Storey and His Accordion Sounds." The sounds Jimmy Storey makes come not from an accordion — which will greatly perplex a listener expecting to hear that instrument — but, from a Transichord. This is an accordion-shaped instrument but with far greater range of sound, such as that of trumpet, oboe, bass guitar, piano and other strings. The refreshing, delicate and bombastic sounds of the Transichord under the master touch of young Jimmy Storey lend themselves dramatically to Irish music. Nearly two dozen numbers are presented. London International, SW 9931 (EG)

THE FOURTH recent Irish album of London presents Ron Moody and Jack Wild in the original sound track of "Flight of the Doves." Album also includes Dana singing "The Far Off Place." As with the three Irish albums above, this one has its own flavor, its own shade of Irish green. Remarkable quality of these Irish albums is that all can be spun one after the other in any order, and an appreciative listener will come up asking for "more of the Irish." London, XPS 591. (EG)

NO NEED to tell you who the Grateful Dead. This outfit would be on about anybody's list of top rock groups. They've played Portland and several times. "Historic Dead" is their new album. On it, the "Dead" play "Good Morning Little School Girl" (11 minutes, 1 second) and "The Same Old Thing" (12 minutes, 1 second). That leaves space only for "Linday" (2 minutes, 49 seconds) and "Stealin'" (3 minutes). Music lyrics can be under-stand. Good sound with an amplified harmonic lead. This album is so "tame" it could be used as background music. Sunflower (MGM), SNF 5004. (KN)

AGED FAMILY PORTRAIT shows Washington County pioneer John Harrison with wife Mary. Couple brought family across plains from Iowa via covered wagon in 1846, settled on donation land claim near North Plains, west of Portland. They left many descendants, some of whom today, like Debbie Lee Morris, seek restoration of historic old Harrison Cemetery where couple is buried. John died in 1873, Mary in 1857.

The bidding:
North East South West
1♣ 1♦ 1♥ 1♠
2♣ 2♦ 2♥ 2♠

Opening lead — two of diamonds.

This remarkable deal occurred in a rubber bridge game. It is an extraordinary illustration of imaginative thinking at the bridge table.

You may not approve of South's strataghematic leap to seven diamonds, a gambling shot that would have worked out well in the actual case had the bidding died then and there.

BUT WEST was Albert Wolf, of his unusual double, both North and South quite reasonably elected to pass.

In effect, by his unusual double, Wolf succeeded in silencing not only his opponents but, much more important, his partner.

bid seven hearts as a sacrifice, as most other players would have done under the same circumstances.

North made a forcing pass, showing more than minimum values, and South accepted the invitation to go on by bidding seven spades, which would ordinarily have been laydown.

Wolf doubled and led a diamond, and poor South went down one when East ruffed. Wolf's highly effective lead was very well judged; he knew there was an excellent chance on the bidding that North-South had nine diamonds between them.

BUT HIS double — and the reasons for it — was truly ingenious. Wolf realized that, if he passed, East would make a conventional double of seven spades in order to ask for a diamond lead. Wolf was afraid that, if this happened, one opponent or the other would run to seven notrump (which could not be defeated).

To prevent this from happening, Wolf decided to grab the bull by the horns and double, and, because it was not a conventional double asking for a specific lead, both North and South quite reasonably elected to pass.

Mr. Paul See
33360 Surf Pines Lane
Seaside, Oregon 97138

Dear Paul:

Thank you for the additional information on the MORRISON family, the world is indeed getting smaller and our family keeps expanding. Your question prompted me to do some additional research on them and, I found the enclosed information when Bonnie and I made a trip to the Oregon State Archives in Salem.

Robert Jefferson MORRISON died in 1906 and the probate of his estate was in their files. That document and a search of their data base gave us the married name of his daughter (Nora Edna) and her husband, Joshua N. BURKHEAD. They had two daughters born in Clatsop County according to my research; Irma E, born @1919 and Esther C, born @1922. The 1920 Census shows them living in the Clatsop Precinct. Possibly those names are familiar to you.

While at the archives we also did additional research on James Miller HARRISON. We have now determined he did have a Donation Land Claim in Lane County and died there in October 1881. I have not found his grave yet but I have it narrowed to one of three cemeteries at this time. The final proof that this James M. HARRISON listed in the 1880 Census is ours, was one of the creditors listed in his estate probate (enclosed) was Nora (BRICKELL) MORRISON his niece and a resident of Clatsop County.

Once I locate the burial of James M. that will leave only Maria (HARRISON) BRICKELL's grave to be found and then we will have all the children of John and his wives. William Henry HARRISON is buried at Granite Hill Cemetery in Grants Pass, Oregon and we will make a point of going to photograph his grave in the future. At that time I will also stop in Roseburg and take photos of Archibald McNair HARRISON'S grave at the Oregon Veterans Home Cemetery.

Now for what I believe will be of the most interest to you. The archives had the death certificates for your Grandparents, Josiah & Lamira Bedler (HARRISON) WEST. I obtained copies (enclosed) of them and the holographic, hand written Will of Josiah.

Enjoy the documents, I found them fascinating!

Jim
